Bios, photos and key facts

For journalists and event organizers. Use any bio as written. For interviews and requests, choose Press or Media on the inquiry form.

BIOS

Short bio (about 25 words)

Three-time exited founder and operator.
Advisor, consultant and investor in health, human performance and technology.
Based in South Florida and New York City.

Medium bio (about 75 words)

Jeff Halevy is a three-time exited founder and operator working at the intersection of health, technology, and human performance. He founded Continuum, an AI-platformed, fully integrated wellness club, acquired in 2026. He cofounded Altis Movement Technologies, an AI movement-coaching company acquired in 2023, and founded Apex Human Performance, acquired in 2020. A former health correspondent for NBC's TODAY, Jeff speaks, advises companies and hosts The Next Chapter with Jeff Halevy, launching Q1 2027.

Long bio (about 200 words)

Jeff Halevy is a three-time exited founder and operator working at the intersection of health, technology, and human performance. Continuum, an AI-platformed, fully integrated wellness club in New York's West Village that Jeff founded in 2023, opened in 2024 and was acquired in 2026. Altis Movement Technologies, which he cofounded in 2019, built AI and computer-vision technology that coached human movement in real time; it debuted at CES 2022, raised $10.5 million in seed financing and was acquired in 2023. Halevy Life, his New York City health club, evolved into Apex Human Performance, which was acquired in 2020. HLVY Group, the holding company for Apex and other ventures, was a 2017 Inc. 5000 honoree. Jeff created Our Power for Michelle Obama's Let's Move! initiative, using early wearable technology to promote physical activity; it debuted in Newark in 2011. He was a health correspondent for NBC's TODAY, and his series Workout From Within with Jeff Halevy premiered in 2012, ran for four 13-episode seasons – 52 episodes total – and remains in international syndication. Today Jeff speaks, advises companies and hosts The Next Chapter with Jeff Halevy, launching Q1 2027 in partnership with PEF. He is based in South Florida and New York City.

PHOTOS

Portrait, 2025
Download full size

Portrait, 2025
Download full size

Portrait, 2024
Download full size

Portrait, 2025
Download full size

Portrait, 2025
Download full size

Portrait, 2024
Download full size

Continuum Club, 2025
Download full size

Altis, 2022
Download full size

AARP Disrupt Aging, 2018 · video still, low resolution
Download full size

Photos: James Farrell. Please credit him when you use a portrait.

REFERENCE

Key facts

NAME	Jeff Halevy
ROLE	Three-time exited founder and operator
SERVICES	Advisor, consultant and investor in health, human performance and technology
FOCUS	Health, human performance and technology
BASED IN	South Florida and New York City

COMPANIES AND EXITS	Continuum, Founder and CEO, 2023–2026 – acquired in 2026 Altis Movement Technologies, Cofounder and CEO, 2019–2023 – acquired in 2023 Apex Human Performance, Founder and CEO, 2009–2020 – acquired in 2020
RECOGNITION	Inc. 5000 (America's Fastest-Growing Companies)
CURRENT WORK	Speaking; advisory and consulting; host of The Next Chapter with Jeff Halevy (launching Q1 2027)
TELEVISION	Health correspondent for NBC's TODAY (2013–2014); Host, Workout From Within with Jeff Halevy (premiered 2012; four 13-episode seasons, 52 episodes; currently in international syndication)
PUBLIC HEALTH	Created "Our Power" for Michelle Obama's Let's Move! childhood obesity initiative; debuted in 2011
SPEAKING	Varied keynotes on entrepreneurship, health and longevity (2014–2020), including AARP's Disrupt Aging (Washington, DC, 2018); Bloomberg, UBS and Entrepreneurs' Organization (2014–2020)
WRITING	Contributor, U.S. News & World Report, HuffPost and AskMen.com
BRAND ENGAGEMENTS	Dove, ASICS, Aflac and AIG
PROFILES	LinkedIn · IMDb · X · Instagram · YouTube

Coverage: Press archive · Video: Selected clips · Companies: Ventures